

IN OGDEN'S SOCIETY CIRCLES

MR. AND MRS. CLYDE F. THOMAS.

On Tuesday, the twenty-second of September, Clyde F. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Thomas, of 518 Twenty-seventh street, returned to this city from the Pacific coast where he has been residing for the past two years. Mr. Thomas did not return as he left, however, for he brought with him a bride of a few months and the couple are now at the home at 518 Twenty-seventh street.

Clyde Thomas left Ogden in 1917 and enlisted December 12, the same year. He entered the aerial service and was given his early training at the Berkeley field, later being sent to Rockwell Field, San Diego, and still later to Ream Field. He was considered one of the most efficient of the flyers at the San Diego field and on the immense parade last Thanksgiving day in the coast city he was chosen as one of five other expert flyers to perform the aerial stunts. While in San Diego he was a mechanic under Lieutenant Bass. He was mustered out in April of this year at the Presidio, San Francisco, and on May 3 was married to Miss Noreen Mabel Kurvinen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kurvinen of Ely, Minnesota.

Mr. Thomas met his bride in San Diego while he was in service.

Mrs. Thomas is an attractive young lady and nicely accomplished. She is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and for some time was an instructor in the public schools of the state.

NOVEL PLAY IN ELEVENTH WARD.

On Friday evening of this week the Eleventh ward Mutuals opened the season's work by a social and entertainment, followed by several hours of dancing to the music of an excellent orchestra. The affair was planned and supervised by Mrs. Henry Mack and Mr. Robert Hunter, president of the Mutuals. An extremely novel and interesting number of the program was the Morality play, "The Street of Illusion," presented by the Ward Players under the direction of Miss Minnie Moore Brown. The play was introduced by a brief talk on medieval morality plays by Miss Brown, and was presented without scenery, the actors coming from and returning to their seats in the audience, after the fashion of a thousand years ago.

The entire program was very excellent. Miss Frances O'Neil, Mr. Axel Nylander and Mrs. Bernice Erickson furnished the musical numbers, and Miss Beattie Peterson, Miss Dorothy McBratney and Mrs. Alfred Gladwell each giving readings. The cast of the play is as follows:

Monsignor Cushman Entertains Ex-Service Men at Breakfast

Monsignor P. M. Cushman entertained thirty-five returned service men, members of St. Joseph's parish, on last Sunday morning. The boys attended divine service in full uniform, after which they marched to Monsignor's residence where a well appointed breakfast awaited them. Short speeches were made by a number of the boys recalling personal experiences of the late war and that of Tom Maginnis who came down from Pocatello for the occasion was especially interesting to those present. Mrs. Morrissey, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Cahill assisted the capable housekeeper, Mrs. Fisher, in making so signal a success of the affair. The following named ex-soldiers were present: J. D. Dean, L. T. Dean, A. T. LaFreniere, J. T. Shaughnessy, L. J. Smyth, C. J. Clements, C. H. Blaes, H. F. Cahill, E. W. Brophy, Leo F. Brophy, J. T. Fisher, Edw. Morrissey, Raymond P. Morrissey, S. C. Powell, J. A. Reardon, C. F. Thinnies, H. W. Veasy, Dan E. Sullivan, L. J. Carney, J. J. McKenna, Tom Maginnis, Leo Clark, Charles Monahan, Tom Maples, Leon Clausse, Joseph A. Loughran, James Kelliber and Harold McKnight.

Ex-service men, members of the local council Knights of Columbus, their relatives and friends completely filled the spacious dining room of the Weber club on last Wednesday night when the home-coming of the boys was fittingly celebrated with a banquet given in their honor. Grand Knight M. J. O'Connor welcomed them home in a very feeling and earnest manner in the name of the council in conclusion introducing the toastmaster of the evening Principal John A. Junk. Monsignor P. M. Cushman, the speaker of the evening spoke very vigorously along patriotic lines advocating preservation of American ideals. Tom Maginnis of Pocatello responded on behalf of the ex-soldiers and S. Abbot Maginnis, former member of the Ogden council, now minister of Bolivia on his way to that far away country, made a short farewell speech to his many friends present. The reception at the hall on Washington avenue was attended by about 300 friends of the boys who gave a fine exhibition of camp life which was applauded. The bugler, Mr. Drysdale, gave the different calls with exceptional clearness, adding much to the success of the feature.

The committee on arrangements was composed of the following Knights: Grand Knight M. J. O'Connor, Advocate J. A. Junk, Warder Phillip K. Smith, Deputy Grand Knight Joseph Paquet, Lecturer J. P. Dinsen, Master and the Fourth Degree C. A. McGuire, and Financial Secretary L. J. Healy.

Mrs. Mack Garr Leaves For New York Prior to Sailing for Europe.

Mrs. Mack Garr and little son, Mack Jr., left Ogden last Thursday for New York City from where they will sail next Wednesday for France to meet Lieutenant Colonel Mack Garr, who is stationed in France as chief of embarkation on General Pershing's staff. Colonel Garr's duties will require his services at Paris and Amiens during the next four or six months and the time will afford Mrs. Garr a very delightful sight-seeing trip. Colonel and Mrs. Garr expect to visit throughout France, Belgium and Italy before returning home.

Colonel Garr has been overseas a year and seven months and has considerable experience as a member of General Pershing's staff. Before sailing he was in charge of the 6th cavalry at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and he took these men overseas. Shortly after arriving in France he was promoted to lieutenant colonel and placed on the staff of General Pershing.

Mrs. Garr has been residing in Ogden with her mother, Mrs. William Staley, 1563 Robinson avenue, since her husband went overseas. She is well known in Ogden. Before her marriage she was Miss Edna May Staley.
